

Roughly Used Up.

Sam Betts, the cowboy preacher, who went from Fayette over into Raleigh to preach Democracy, met with rough treatment Saturday while making one of his wild speeches on the court house steps at Beckley. He pointed out Sheriff Campbell as a drunkard and became so abusive that Mr. Campbell took him by the collar and pitched him off the steps. He fell so heavily that his collar bone was broken and he had to be taken to the hospital—Journal.

For Sale.

Two heavy draft colts weight about 1200 lbs, well broken, also a light draft riding and driving horse 3 years old at my farm is ry 1, 1861. Virginia has repaid off or retired obligation of the undivided state in the aggregate, in interest, to a sum in excess of $25,000,000."

case has attracted wide attention and its settlement by the highest tribunal is with great interest.

brief on demurrer filed late of West Virginia, on for denying the right for the indebtedness principal among them contention that the court has no authority to dispute.

ence, and after references to the demurrer, the

"That this court has on of the parties to matter of the action, appears by the billers set forth do not thin the meaning of an of the United controversy * * *

d and determined and this court has under or enforce any or decree. Further does not state to entitle the commonwealth of Virginia to the right or as owners of the certain and described is not sufficiently forth the claims ed upon, but the indefinite proper hurried to the office of Dr. T. C. Firstbaugh, where the injuries of the venturesome little unfortunate were dressed.

It is believed the boy's eyes were not injured.—Harrisonburg News.

Some Very Old Whiskey.

While digging after a sandalwood root on the bank of Elk near the Webster Springs Hotel one day last week, A. G. Cogar uncovered a pint bottle of "homemade" corn whiskey, which he believes to have been hidden in the roots of the tree by Quince Harris twenty nine years ago. Harris made a great deal of this kind of whiskey here about that time, and as some of our citizens have not yet forgotten the palatable taste peculiar to the Harris whiskey, they recognized it at once. The cork in the bottle was decayed down to the last quarter of an inch, but this much was still firm and protected the contents from becoming diluted with water and filled with dirt. Being in glass, the liquor had improved little if any by age, but Mr. Cogar says a spoonful of it has as much strength as a half pint of the booze commonly dispensed nowadays. There is probably not another drop of the famous Quince Harris whiskey in existence, he having been dead for many years.—Webster Echo.

Pay Cash for Bride.

Columbus, Ind., March 19—engagement of John Quinn, 85 years, a retired farmer of Creek Township, Bartholomew county, and Mrs. Lucinda Grace, of Hope, age 70 years, Route of travel, and then deal at Richmond. Quarters in Richmond provided.

Just old Veterans remain, and embrace, perfect opportunity "So old with their old Comrades

Respect V
Maj Gen. Co
A. C. L. Greywood,
Adjt General.

Janet's Expenses

The Hall of Congress long and 100 feet wide 62 feet wide.

Auditorium: 150x
Mining and Metallurgy: 100x250 feet.

Smelter: 50x100
Manufacturers' Arts' Palace: 280x

Machinery and Palace: 250x550 feet

States' Exhibit feet.

Hygienic and Medical 100x250 feet.

Pure foods 6 feet.

History and Geography: 124x129 feet.

Education B feet.

Pocahontas feet.

Mothers' and Children's 50x82 feet.

Model Schoolroom: Iron Shop

Village: 48x Pottery &

Crafts Village Copper, S

of the personal estate of Brown N. Gal-ford, dec'd

8. United States vs. Mitchel Sheets.

Mitchel Sheets was given a hearing this morning before Commissioner P. D.
Yeager for carrying on the business of retail liquor dealer at Cass. Sheets was indicted at the last term of court and fined, but commissioner Yeager did not think the evidence warranted holding him for the United States Court where the law is somewhat different from the State courts, requiring at least two witnesses to a sale to hold the accused.